

Clinical Trial Information

The following websites have information concerning clinical trials:

- ClinicalTrials.gov (www.clinicaltrials.gov) is a website developed by the U.S. National Institutes of Health through its National Library of Medicine, to provide patients, family members and members of the public with current information about clinical research studies.
- Centerwatch (www.centerwatch.com) is a website that provides information on clinical trials and new drugs approved by the FDA.
- The International Federation of Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Associations Clinical Trails Portal (www.ifpma.org/clinicaltrials.html) is a website designed to help you search for comprehensive information concerning on-going clinical trials or results of completed trials conducted by the pharmaceutical industry.

The above information should not in any way substitute for the advice of a qualified health care professional and is not intended to constitute medical advice. For further information, contact National Glaucoma Research, a program of the American Health Assistance Foundation, at 22512 Gateway Center Drive, Clarksburg, Maryland 20871, call 1-800-437-2423, or visit our website at www.ahaf.org.

Spring 2007